Answers

Will and going to exercises with answers

1. have

   After going to, use the infinitive: have, not having or has.

2. are ... stay

   Your parents = they, so we use are, not is. In questions, are comes before the subject, and we don't use do. After going to, use the infinitive: stay.

3. will rain

   I think shows a prediction, so use will + infinitive: will rain, not will rains. We don't use the Present Simple (rains) for a prediction.

4. am going to sell

   You decided yesterday, before the conversation, so it is a plan. Use going to, not will.

5. am ... write

   With I, we use am before going to, not is or are. After going to, use the infinitive: write, not writes or writing.

6. Are

   In questions with going to, am, is or are comes before the subject. With you it is Are, not Do.

7. won't

   The negative of will is won't (will not). Don't use no, and don't put not before will.

8. will

   OK shows that you decide now, as you speak. So we use will, not going to.

9. We're going to watch TV tonight.

   We're = we are, so we don't add is. After going to, use the infinitive: watch.

10. isn't

    In the negative, put not after is: isn't going to. We don't use doesn't with going to.

11. I'll ... call

    This is a promise, so we use will: I'll call. We don't use I call here.

12. We're going to visit Rome this summer.

    This is a plan you made earlier, so we use going to. Then use the infinitive: visit.

13. is going to visit

    Tomorrow shows the future, so the Present Simple (visits, visit) doesn't fit here. Use is going to visit: we use it for things someone decided earlier.

14. is

    After what, is comes before Anna, because Anna = she. We don't use does with going to.

15. will give

You decide now, as you speak, so we use will, not the Present Simple. After will, the infinitive has no to.

16. is going to buy

Ben told you last week, so he decided earlier. Use going to, not will.

17. are going to buy

My parents = they, so we use are going to buy. Don't use the Present Simple buy for a plan.

18. am not

In the negative, put not after am: am not going to. Don't use don't with going to, and don't leave out am.

19. will ... be

I think shows a prediction, so we use will. After will, use the infinitive be, without to.

20. is going to visit

Sam has the tickets already, so this is a plan made earlier. Use going to, not will.
