

Need another word that means the same as “expelled”? Find 30 related words for “expelled” in this overview.

Table Of Contents:

- Associations of "Expelled" \(30 Words\)

Associations of "Expelled" (30 Words)

|                     |                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| abolition    | The action of abolishing a system, practice, or institution.The abolition of capital punishment.                                                                   |
| abolitionism | The doctrine that calls for the abolition of slavery.                                                                                                                                |
| abolitionist | A reformer who favors abolishing slavery.The abolitionist movement.                                                                                                |
| banish       | Send (someone) away from a country or place as an official punishment.A number of people were banished to Siberia for political crimes.                            |
| cancellation | A mark made on a postage stamp to show that it has been used.Covers showing stamps and special cancellations.                                                      |
| coup         | An instance of successfully achieving something difficult.He was overthrown in an army coup.                                                                       |
| cutout       | A part that is cut out or is intended to be cut out.                                                                                                                                 |
| delete       | (of a section of genetic code, or its product) be lost or excised from a nucleic acid or protein sequence.Their EMI release has already been deleted.              |
| deport       | Exile (a native) to another country.He has deported himself with great dignity.                                                                                    |
| depose       | Remove from office suddenly and forcefully.He had been deposed by a military coup.                                                                                 |
| discharge    | A substance that has been discharged.Machinery to rehabilitate the bankrupt through the process of discharge.                                                      |
| eject        | Leave an aircraft rapidly using an ejection seat or capsule.He put the plane in a nosedive and ejected.                                                            |
| elimination  | The generation of a simple substance as a product in the course of a reaction involving larger molecules.A 1 draw confirmed their elimination from the tournament. |

|                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| erase     | Remove recorded material from (a magnetic tape or medium); delete (data) from a computer's memory.Who erased the files from my hard disk.                                                                     |
| evict            | Expel or eject without recourse to legal process.A single mother and her children have been evicted from their home.                                                                                          |
| excise    | Charge excise on goods.The surgeon excised the tumor.                                                                                                                                                         |
| exclude          | Put out or expel from a place.The bad results were excluded from the report.                                                                                                                                  |
| exclusion | The state of being excommunicated.Exclusions can be added to your policy.                                                                                                                                     |
| exile            | Expel from a country.A corrupt dictator who had been exiled from his country.                                                                                                                                 |
| expatriate       | Move away from one's native country and adopt a new residence abroad.The poet was then expatriated from France.                                                                                               |
| expulsion        | The act of expelling or projecting or ejecting.The child's expulsion from school.                                                                                                                             |
| expunge   | Remove by erasing or crossing out or as if by drawing a line.The kind of man that could expunge an unsatisfactory incident from his memory.                                                                   |
| extradite        | Hand over (a person accused or convicted of a crime) to the jurisdiction of the foreign state in which the crime was committed.They extradited the fugitive to his native country so he could be tried there. |
| ghetto    | An isolated or segregated group or area.The Warsaw ghetto.                                                                                                                                                    |
| liquidate        | Wind up the affairs of (a business) by ascertaining liabilities and apportioning assets.If the company was liquidated there would be enough funds released to honour the debts.                               |
| manumission      | The formal act of freeing from slavery.A leading advocate of manumission.                                                                                                                                     |
| ostracize | Expel from a community or group.Ever since I spoke up my colleagues ostracize me.                                                                                                                             |
| oust             | Take away (a court's jurisdiction) in a matter.The chairman was ousted after he misappropriated funds.                                                                                                        |

- riddance The act of removing or getting rid of something.
The new movement emphasized discipline not riddance or punishment as a method of solving the criminal problem.
- rout A disorderly retreat of defeated troops.
A rout of wolves consumed the last of the carcass.

