How to form Future Simple

Statements

To form the Future Simple in positive sentences, we use:

will ('ll) + the verb (base form without 'to')

Singular Plural

I will ('Il) sing We'll sing
You'll sing You'll sing
He/she/it'll sing They'll sing

- The train will arrive in an hour.
- I have a nice dress. I'll go to the party tonight!
- Your brother will become famous soon.

Negative sentences

To make negative statements in Future Simple, we use:

will not (won't) + the verb (base form without 'to')

Singular Plural

I will not (won't) eat We won't eat
You won't eat
He/she/it won't eat
They won't eat

- It's too late; I won't go through that park.
- That's a very big pizza. We won't finish it.
- Pete is in New York. He will not travel to Brazil with us.

Questions

To make questions in Future Simple, we rearrange the word order and use:

will + subject + the verb (base form without 'to')

Singular Plural

Will I be fine? Will we be fine? Will you be fine? Will you be fine? Will he/she/it be fine? Will they be fine?

- Will you be at work tomorrow?
- Will you help me with my homework?

Let's summarize:

Future Tense: Will→ Form

When to use 'will' for future

We can use 'will' in English in several ways:

- 1) to describe a quick decision that you have made at the time of speaking:
  - Oh, it's raining! I'll take my umbrella.
  - What would you like? I'll have a tea, please.
  - Patrick finally dared to ask: "Will you marry me, Cindy?"
  - This cake looks very small. Will it be enough for all of us?
- 2) to make a prediction about what you think is going to happen even if there is no firm evidence for that prediction:

- Mary's preparing for her exam. I believe she will do very well tomorrow.
- Wait a few minutes. I think it will stop raining soon.
- 3) to offer to do something:
  - You look tired. We'll make you a cup of coffee.
  - Is that the phone? I'll answer it.
- 4) when making a promise:
  - Don't worry, mom, I'll be careful.
  - We will be there by eight, I promise.
- 5) to make a suggestion (with 'shall'):
  - Shall we eat out tonight?
  - Shall I help you with your homework?
- 6) to ask people to do something:
  - Will you help me wash the car?
  - Will you give me a ride?

Shall

We can use 'shall' instead of 'will' when asking for a decision, making polite offers or suggestions, or in more formal situations.

- When shall I meet you?
- What film shall we see?

We form questions with 'shall' like this:

(question word) + shall + subject + the verb (base form without 'to')

Note: We can start the question with 'shall' and no question word if it is not required.

Singular Plural

Shall I visit? Shall we visit? Shall you visit? Shall he/she/it visit? Shall they visit?

- Shall we have a cup of tea?
- That's a good idea.
- You look tired. Shall I drive?
- We shall go there together.

Note: We can use 'shall' to talk about future actions and events, but it is only used with 'I' or 'we' and mostly in British English.
