

Need another word that means the same as “mystical”? Find 60 synonyms and 30 related words for “mystical” in this overview.

Table Of Contents:

- Mystical as an Adjective
- Definitions of "Mystical" as an adjective
- Synonyms of "Mystical" as an adjective \(60 Words\)
- Usage Examples of "Mystical" as an adjective
- Associations of "Mystical" \(30 Words\)

The synonyms of “Mystical” are: mystic, mysterious, occult, orphic, secret, supernatural, paranormal, supernormal, preternatural, metaphysical, extrasensory, transcendental, magic, magical, symbolic, metaphorical, figurative, representative, emblematic, parabolic, puzzling, strange, peculiar, curious, funny, queer, odd, weird, bizarre, mystifying, inexplicable, baffling, perplexing, bewildering, confusing, uncanny, dark, impenetrable, incomprehensible, unexplainable, unfathomable, delphic, sibylline, unaccountable, insoluble, obscure, extraordinary, out of the ordinary, exceptional, unusual, uncommon, rare, singular, signal, unprecedented, outstanding, remarkable, phenomenal, abnormal, anomalous

Mystical as an Adjective

Definitions of "Mystical" as an adjective

According to the Oxford Dictionary of English, “mystical” as an adjective can have the following definitions:

- Relating to or resembling mysticism.
- Relating to mystics or religious mysticism.
- Concerned with the soul or the spirit, rather than with material things.
- Having a spiritual symbolic or allegorical significance that transcends human understanding.
- Relating to ancient religious mysteries or other occult or esoteric rites.
- Of hidden or esoteric meaning.
- Inspiring a sense of spiritual mystery, awe, and fascination.
- Having an import not apparent to the senses nor obvious to the intelligence; beyond ordinary understanding.

- Relating to or characteristic of mysticism.

Synonyms of "Mystical" as an adjective (60 Words)

|                           |                                                                                                                                       |
|---------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| abnormal           | Much greater than the normal.Participants with abnormal results were invited to undergo further diagnostic testing. |
| anomalous          | Deviating from the general or common order or type.Sentences which are grammatically anomalous.                     |
| baffling           | Impossible to understand; perplexing.A baffling problem.                                                            |
| bewildering | Confusing or perplexing.There is a bewildering array of holidays to choose from.                                    |
| bizarre            | Conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual.A bizarre situation.                                             |

|                            |                                                                                                                                                               |
|----------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| confusing           | Causing confusion or disorientation.He found being in Egypt very confusing.                                                                 |
| curious             | Eager to know or learn something.A trap door that made me curious.                                                                          |
| dark                | Having a dark hue.A tall dark girl.                                                                                                         |
| delphic             | Of or relating to Delphi or to the oracles of Apollo at Delphi.                                                                                               |
| emblematic   | Serving as a symbol of a particular quality or concept; symbolic.This case is emblematic of a larger problem.                               |
| exceptional         | Unusual; not typical.Exceptional kindness.                                                                                                  |
| extraordinary       | (of an official) serving an unusual or special function in addition to those of the regular officials.An extraordinary desire for approval. |
| extrasensory        | Seemingly outside normal sensory channels.                                                                                                                    |
| figurative          | (of an artist or work of art) representing forms that are recognizably derived from life.Figurative language.                               |
| funny               | Experiencing odd bodily sensations.Suddenly my stomach felt funny.                                                                          |
| impenetrable        | Permitting little if any light to pass through because of denseness of matter.An impenetrable fortress.                                     |
| incomprehensible    | Difficult to understand- A. Einstein.The most incomprehensible thing about the universe is that it is comprehensible.                       |
| inexplicable | Incapable of being explained or accounted for.For some inexplicable reason her mind went completely blank.                                  |
| insoluble           | Admitting of no solution or explanation.Once dry the paints become insoluble in water.                                                      |
| magic               | Possessing or using or characteristic of or appropriate to supernatural powers- Shakespeare.A magical spell.                                |
| magical      | Possessing or using or characteristic of or appropriate to supernatural powers.It was a magical evening of pure nostalgia.                  |

|                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| metaphorical        | Characteristic of or relating to metaphor; figurative.Many of our metaphorical expressions develop from our perceptions of the body.                                                |
| metaphysical        | Of or characteristic of the metaphysical poets.Good and Evil are inextricably linked in a metaphysical battle across space and time.                                                |
| mysterious          | Having an import not apparent to the senses nor obvious to the intelligence; beyond ordinary understanding.The new insurance policy is written without cryptic or mysterious terms. |
| mystic              | Relating to or characteristic of mysticism.Mystical religion.                                                                                                                       |
| mystifying          | Of an obscure nature.A mystifying phenomenon.                                                                                                                                       |
| obscure             | Not clearly understood or expressed-Anatole Broyard- P.A.So.I feel an obscure resentment.                                                                                           |
| occult              | Communicated only to the initiated; esoteric.An occult ceremony.                                                                                                                    |
| odd                 | Different to what is usual or expected; strange.It s odd that she didn t recognize me.                                                                                              |
| orphic              | Having an import not apparent to the senses nor obvious to the intelligence; beyond ordinary understanding.                                                                                           |
| out of the ordinary | Outer or outlying.                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| outstanding         | Owed as a debt.Einstein was one of the outstanding figures of the 20th centurey.                                                                                                    |
| parabolic           | Resembling or expressed by parables.A parabolic mirror behind a spotlight projects a parallel beam.                                                                                 |
| paranormal          | Seemingly outside normal sensory channels.What seemed to be paranormal manifestations.                                                                                              |
| peculiar            | Markedly different from the usual-Virginia Woolf.Some languages are peculiar to one region.                                                                                         |
| perplexing          | Lacking clarity of meaning; causing confusion or perplexity.A perplexing problem.                                                                                                   |
| phenomenal          | Perceptible by the senses or through immediate experience.The phenomenal world.                                                                                                     |
| preternatural       | Existing outside of or not in accordance with nature-Aldous Huxley.Autumn had arrived with preternatural speed.                                                                     |

|                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| puzzling       | Not clear to the understanding.A puzzling statement.                                                                                                                                                 |
| rare           | Recurring only at long intervals.Lightheaded from the rarefied mountain air.                                                                                                                         |
| remarkable     | Worthy of notice.A remarkable achievement.                                                                                                                                                           |
| representative | Being or characteristic of government by representation in which citizens exercise power through elected officers and representatives.The bust involves a high degree of representative abstraction. |
| secret         | Given in confidence or in secret.A secret drinker.                                                                                                                                                   |
| sibylline      | Relating to or characteristic of a sibyl; prophetic and mysterious.One glimpses them uttering sibylline predictions of weal and woe.                                                                 |
| signal         | Notably out of the ordinary.The year saw one signal triumph for the Labour party.                                                                                                                    |
| singular       | Relating to or of the nature of singularity.She always thought of herself as singular as his only daughter.                                                                                          |
| strange        | Being definitely out of the ordinary and unexpected; slightly odd or even a bit weird.A strange exaltation that was indefinable.                                                                     |
| supernatural   | Not existing in nature or subject to explanation according to natural laws; not physical or material.A woman of supernatural beauty.                                                                 |
| supernormal    | Beyond the range of the normal or scientifically explainable.Years of supernormal employment during the war.                                                                                         |
| symbolic       | Serving as a visible symbol for something abstract.Symbolic operations.                                                                                                                              |
| transcendental | Existing outside of or not in accordance with nature-Aldous Huxley.The transcendental importance of each person s soul.                                                                              |
| unaccountable  | Unable to be explained.A strange and unaccountable fact.                                                                                                                                             |
| uncanny        | Strange or mysterious, especially in an unsettling way.An uncanny feeling that she was being watched.                                                                                                |
| uncommon       | Marked by an uncommon quality especially superlative or extreme of its kind J R Lowell.He owed his greatest debt to his mother s uncommon character and ability.                                     |

unexplainable

Not to be accounted for or explained.
He was subject to unexplainable rages.

unfathomable

(of water or a natural feature) impossible to measure the extent of.
Her grey eyes were dark with some unfathomable emotion.

unprecedented

Never done or known before.
The government took the unprecedented step of releasing confidential correspondence.

unusual

Remarkable or interesting because different from or better than others.
A man of unusual talent.

weird

Strikingly odd or unusual- Bram Stoker.
Weird inhuman sounds.*

Usage Examples of "Mystical" as an adjective

- Mystical intuition.
- The mystical theology of Richard Rolle.
- Mystical religion.
- A geometric figure of mystical significance.
- The mystical practices of the Pythagoreans.

- The mystical body of Christ.
- The mystical style of Blake.
- The beliefs of a more mystical age.
- Mystical theories about the securities market.
- The mystical city of Kathmandu.

Associations of "Mystical" (30 Words)

- almighty Having unlimited power.
The silence was broken by an almighty roar.
- atheist Someone who denies the existence of god.
He is a committed atheist.

|                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| aura        | (in spiritualism and some forms of alternative medicine) a supposed emanation surrounding the body of a living creature and regarded as an essential part of the individual.Emotional mental and spiritual levels form an energy field around the body known as the aura. |
| believing   | The cognitive process that leads to convictions.Seeing is believing.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| bible       | The sacred writings of the Christian religions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| blaspheme   | Speak of in an irreverent or impious manner.He has blasphemed against the Holy Spirit.                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| consecrate  | Appoint to a clerical posts.The consecrated chapel.                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| deify       | Consider as a god or godlike.These young men deify financial success.                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| deist       | A person who believes that God created the universe and then abandoned it.                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| deity       | The creator and supreme being (in a monotheistic religion such as Christianity).A ruler driven by delusions of deity.                                                                                                                                                     |
| dionysus    | (Greek mythology) god of wine and fertility and drama; the Greek name of Bacchus.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| divinity    | The quality of being divine.Ancient Egyptians believed in the divinity of the Pharaohs.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| heavenly    | Relating to or inhabiting a divine heaven.Heavenly hosts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| heretic     | A person who holds religious beliefs in conflict with the dogma of the Roman Catholic Church.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| idolatrous  | Relating to or practicing idolatry.Idolatrous religions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| mystic      | Relating to or characteristic of mysticism.Mystical theories about the securities market.                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| occult      | Become concealed or hidden from view or have its light extinguished.A secret society to study alchemy and the occult.                                                                                                                                                     |
| omniscience | The state of knowing everything.The notion of divine omniscience.                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| orison      | A prayer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| pantheistic | Of or relating to pantheism.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

|                    |                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| pantheon    | A group of particularly respected, famous, or important people.The deities of the Hindu pantheon.                                            |
| resurrect   | Revive or revitalize (something that is inactive, disused, or forgotten).He resurrected the tango in this remote part of Argentina.          |
| sacrosanct  | Must be kept sacred.The individual's right to work has been upheld as sacrosanct.                                                            |
| spirit      | Infuse with spirit.Spirits of turpentine.                                                                                                    |
| temple      | A thing regarded as holy or likened to a temple especially a person's body.The veins in his temple throbbed.                                 |
| theism      | Belief in the existence of a god or gods, specifically of a creator who intervenes in the universe.There are many different forms of theism. |
| theologian  | Someone who is learned in theology or who speculates about theology.                                                                                           |
| theological | Relating to the study of the nature of God and religious belief.A reworking of the past that was partly theological.                         |
| theology    | The study of the nature of God and religious belief.Roman Catholic theology.                                                                 |

