Possessive adjectives

Possessive adjectives function as determiners in front of a noun to describe who something belongs to. They are always used before a noun or a noun phrase:

- This is my brother. His name is Alex.
- This is my book.
- That's your problem.
- Cindy is visiting her mother.
- Tom is cleaning his room.

The structure is:

[possessive adjective + noun phrase]

- Is Gloria your younger sister?
- Cleaning these tables is his job.

Possessive pronouns

Possessive pronouns refer to possession and 'belonging', too. But possessive adjectives are used before a noun, while possessive pronouns are used in place of a noun.

While possessive adjectives are used to describe the noun, possessive pronouns are used to replace the noun. They refer back to a noun or noun phrase already used, replacing it to avoid repetition:

- Those are my Converse sneakers. They are not yours.
- Your travel plans sound just as exciting as mine!

We use possessive pronouns after a verb.

The structure is:

[verb + possessive pronoun]

- This is my pencil → This pencil is mine.
- That is her dress → That dress is hers.
- These are our coats → These coats are ours.

Possessive adjectives and possessive pronouns have different forms:

Personal Pronouns	Possessive Adjectives	Possessive Pronouns
I	my	mine
You	your	yours
He	his	his
She	her	hers
It	its	its
We	our	ours
You	your	yours
They	their	theirs

Apostrophe + s

We can add apostrophe + s to a noun to show possession. We put the other noun after:

- Nick's house looks clean.
- Selena's books are on the floor.
- It's nobody's fault.

To show possession, we can add 's to common and proper nouns (names), singular and plural nouns:

- The boy's sister traveled by bus to meet us.
- Sally's hair was blond and curly.

- Someone's car is parked in the loading zone.
- The children's play received a standing ovation.
- The two sisters' house is next to mine.

Here's a good video from GoEnglish explaining the difference between possessive adjectives and pronouns:
