Negative sentences in Present Continuous

To say we are not doing something at the moment in Present Continuous, we use:

am/is/are + not + the '-ing' form of the verb

Singular	Plural
I am not sleeping You are not (aren't) sleeping He/she/it is not (isn't) sleeping	We aren't sleeping You aren't sleeping They aren't sleeping

Note: The verb 'be' (am/is/are) + not may be contracted.

- I'm not watching TV.
- Jack isn't walking.
- We're not (We aren't) eating.

Questions in Present Continuous

To ask questions in Present Continuous, we use:

am/is/are + subject + '-ing' form of the verb

Yes/No questions

To create a question that will be answered with a 'yes' or 'no', use 'am'/'is'/'are' (or 'isn't'/'aren't' for a negative question) + '-ing' form of the verb.

Singular	Plural
Am I working? Are you working? Is he/she/it working?	Are we working? Are you working? Are they working?

- Is it raining today?
- Are you leaving right now?
- Is he driving?

Note: We don't say 'Yes, I'm' to answer positive questions, we say 'Yes, I am.'
 We can say 'No, I'm not' or 'No, I am not' to answer negative questions:

- Are you studying now?
- Yes, I am (No, I'm not).
- Is Ben playing golf?
- Yes, he is (No, he isn't).
- Are your friends staying at a hotel?
- Yes, they are (No, they aren't).

Special questions

Special questions (also known as wh-questions) are questions that require more information in their answers. They are made using wh- words such as what, where, when, why, which, who, how, how many, how much.

To make a special question, use the same word order as with yes-no questions but put a wh-word before the verb 'am', 'is' or 'are'. The structure is:

wh-word + am/is/are + [subject] + -ing verb

- What are you doing?
- When is he coming?
- Why is she crying?
